Encountering God Testimonies

March 22, 2010

Dear Danny and Rhonda,

I cannot express to you what this trip meant to both my wife and me. Oh how I wish we had something remotely close to what you provide at the farm! I feel like there was a reset button that was pushed in my heart. My senses have been revitalized and my heart is so open now. I feel a freedom I have not felt for such a long time. I also feel a bit of a loss as is to be expected when you leave a mountaintop experience.

Rhonda and Danny,

I have never felt so welcome and genuinely accepted as I am at your Farm. That seems to extend to everyone. It is a product of the "Truth" in you and your ministry. The foundation of Truth you have established allows people to grow and in the process become even more accepting (of themselves and of others).

Hope reigns on your farm. People need what you are providing... Truth, Love and Hope!

I wanted to send a line to tell you how your testimony and books have deeply touched my life. My husband and I rejoice in God's great plans to have us meet you and Danny. Your "cut to the heart" testimony and the glorious victory that God has in your life impacted us greatly! WOW! The extended hand of God on the Father's Farm to others is wonderful! And of course, the process of encountering Jesus – I am changed forever! The encounters are so much fun and a refreshment to my soul. Thank you so very much for sharing! Thank you again for being our Lord's willing servant!

to bring wholeness to His hurting people. I am amazed at the reaction from my Christian Chiropractor. I had an appointment with him on Tuesday, March 16th the day after I returned home from my Encountering God healing sessions on "The Farm". When He checked my body systems, he said, "I don't know what you did over there, but your body is dumping a ton of toxins!" His expression was priceless! Which reminds me, Jesus already paid the price for my healing. What we are doing now is removing the debris in the road so that I can receive the overflow! Thank you!

Memories are stored in dendrites—the human brain has 10 trillion of them. When a painful or negative memory is stored it causes the dendrite to become toxic and sickly. When the memory is healed, the dendrite "dumps" its toxins and the "sick" dendrite becomes healthy.

Happy Ending to a Beautiful Life

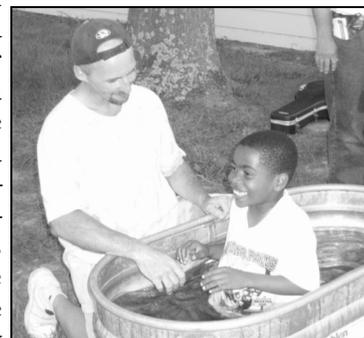

I want to brag on a staff member, Dana (wife of Joshua and also our daughter). For many years, she has delivered groceries to shut-ins and widows. Lucille is one such widow. Dana fell in love with her when we had our food pantry in town. Frail in body but robust in spirit, Lucille would come early and help sort and distribute the groceries. When the day came that she was physically unable to leave her home Dana was at her door armed with a big smile and several bags filled with her favorite foods. For the next five years, Dana helped this aging widow in whatever way she could. When Dana got married, Lucille was there smiling and bragging about "her girl". Just last week, Dana received the news she had been dreading—Lucille had left this world for a better one. Wiping her eyes, Dana fell into my arms and we both cried.

A testimony from staff members Dave & Bev Butterfield:

When Dave and I moved to Our Father's Farm we thought life was going to be so wonderful. Living in community with like-minded people who we adored...what could be better? We soon felt miserable and couldn't figure out why. Everything that could offend us did. We couldn't get away from "us". Our usual ways of self-protection and hiding were not working anymore. Finally, we realized that it was God making us look at what was still in our hearts that is not of Him and that was really painful. We thought we had given him everything. We didn't know that "everything" has depths. We discovered that we truly had not given Him every place in our hearts. We still reserved a portion to ensure that we could guard our rights, our space, our time and our control. We realized that it was God opposing us and not the enemy. The enemy took advantage, for sure, but it was primarily God loving us enough to help us break out of our old ways of thinking that were keeping us in bondage to our old patterns of protecting ourselves and making ourselves look good.

There are so many ways that God has ministered healing to us. Danny and Rhonda have poured so much of themselves and what God has given them into us in the way of time, love, encouragement, revelation, prayer, friendship, household goods, food . . . the list goes on and on. God used the horses to help build trust and break down fear. We have spent quality time in the garden working and sweating, but also feeling a little of what Adam and Eve must've felt as they walked and talked with God in the cool of the day. Dave has learned so much as he works with the other guys. God continues to do amazing healing work in our hearts as we fellowship with Him on a daily basis through Encountering God (inner healing prayer) sessions ourselves and with others. We are learning tons through the Apostolic Training School that we started a few months ago. (The Tree of Life and Encountering God seminars are part of the Apostolic school). As we experience who God is and who we really are in Him, our minds are being renewed and transformed—from the inside out! Being part of Rhonda's ministry team as she speaks to churches and groups all over the U.S. has been stretching and empowering for us as well. Backyard Bible Camp rocked all of us! (We had over 30 children get baptized...thank You, Jesus!)

I have a recent testimony of how I know God has dramatically impacted and transformed my life. Tuesday night during our corporate intercession I was feeling lonely, left out, unappreciated—you know that negative self-talk that we all experience from time to time. Normally I would've left the meeting feeling rejected and been miserable for days. But not this time! Instead, I encountered God and told Him how I felt and He told me the truth! I was free! It works and it feels so good! I love that! And I love Him!
